Preface Any person given to some disciplined standard of living passes a few minutes through the majority in some type of worship, which is basically their attempts to communicate with God. This practice has been in Vogue for centuries and it is as interesting to know how the evolution itself, as knowing the procedures to worship God became. The path of worship is generally divided into "Manasi", "Homa" and "Bera" (idol), and the last, adoration of ádolos, is by far the way most of the way, being "within the ability to The majority of the human being. "Agamas à €. "Tra in the worship of God in the form of an ádol Song of Vedas, but aspired to some type of focus more than finger Below "" of God's procedures to worship it !!) and Agamic literature abounds in traditions based on vads and pureans that eventually became the sources of Indian thought and devotion (Bhakti) and the main pillar of worship Aagamas did not only allow people to offer prayers, if Not that he also contained instructions or practice of the temple, sculpture of images and his consecration, and odes for temples buildings. There is hardly a town or city or city in India that does not have a temple. In addition, there are 'teethers' a kshethras' that return to pure times being connected to an avathara (incarnation) of Vishnu of the past sanctified of Rishi that makes them extremely holy, and ask for a visit at least once in a time of life. There was a time when the rulers and kings and the ultra rich were to build temples. Today we can see groups of ordinary people who are reached build temples and manage them.
